

ABSTRACT

According to this remote monitoring process of a location (1), notably a sales location, of the type according to which images representing a part of location (1) are sent remotely to be centralized in a central monitoring device (5),
5 the images are sent by means of a digital photographic device (4) integrated into an MMS telephone and the digital images are transmitted at least partially via an electronic messaging network.

10 Figure 1